

monday.com for Enterprise Portfolio Management

One platform that does it all: An enterprise-wide Portfolio management, tracking and delivery solution for teams of all sizes.

PMO's proven best practices packaged in a single platform, connecting all the pieces of your Portfolio to help you drive strategic success.

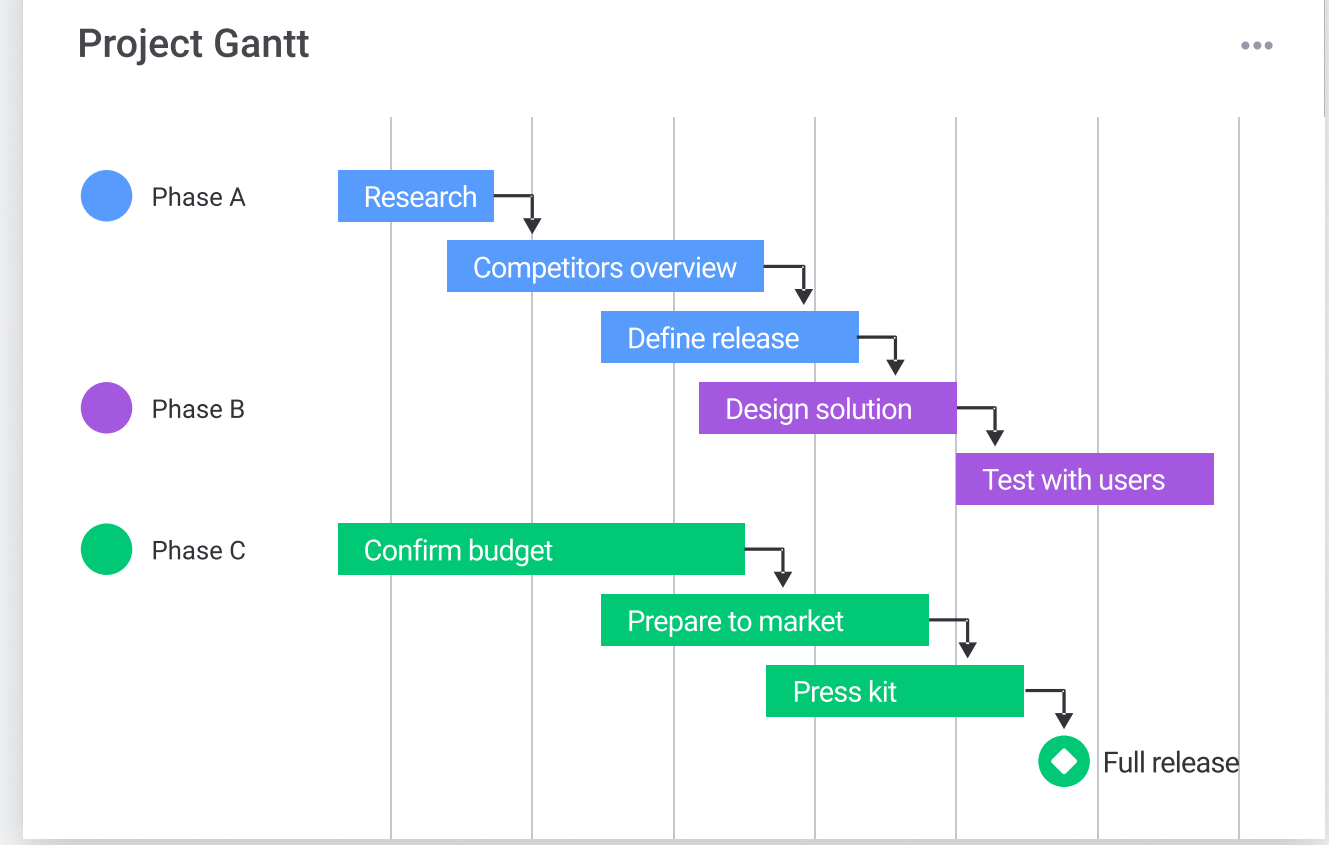

The days of chasing down teams for project updates are long gone.

Give your team an easy-to-use platform where they can execute any project, while you get all the real-time data you need to make the best decisions for your business.

monday.com provides PMO leaders with a cross-level solution that make portfolio management at scale simple and structured— while maintaining flexibility for the unexpected.

Different teams use different methodologies; whether its Waterfall, Agile or Hybrid, monday.com supports your team in executing any project, your way. Decision makers stay involved with real-time data so teams can move faster, make data-driven decisions, and get work done autonomously.

Your complete solution for Enterprise Portfolio Management

Strategize, plan, and execute on one platform

Developing Strategy

- Strategic planning
- Roadmap building
- Portfolio funding
- Security, visibility, and governance
- Scenario planning
- Advanced reporting and analytics
- Capacity planning
- Scope Development
- Clear ownership

Planning & Tracking

- Schedule management
- Cost tracking
- Risk management
- Workload, capacity, and effort management
- Demand management and prioritization capabilities
- Change control management
- Stakeholders engagement

Deployment and Delivery

- Dependency and milestone-based execution
- Permissions and security at a workspace, user, and item level
- Engagement insights
- Turn any work process into a template
- Quality assurance

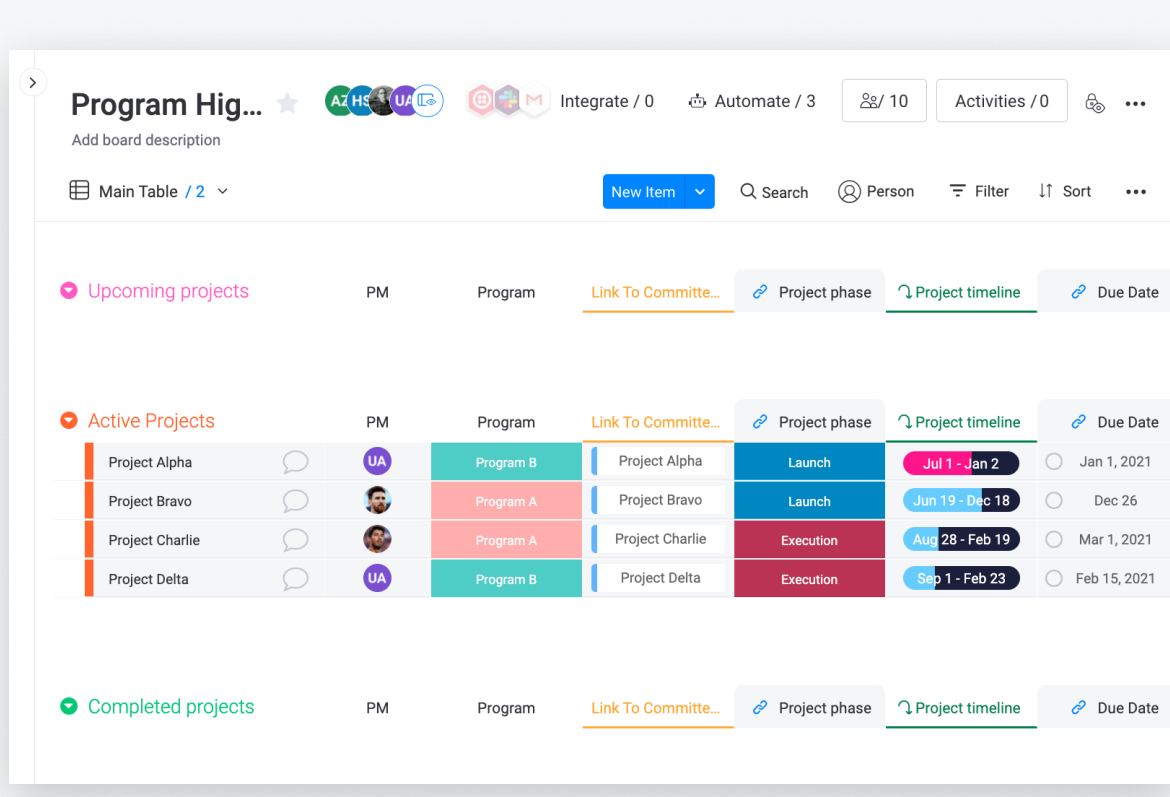

“Running our sprints and tracking our development efforts in monday.com created the transparency we needed to maximize our IT projects. We use high-level Views to better understand what apps are being delivered to which NHL business unit so we can accurately report on how much effort we're dedicating to each one.”

Carol Dann, Senior Director, Project Management

PMO through the lense of monday.com

Projects no longer live in silos when teams use a single PMO and communication tool

Monitor and control your work: Projects are always connected, across all levels. Team members have full visibility to statuses, tasks, ownership, files and more - all in one secure place.

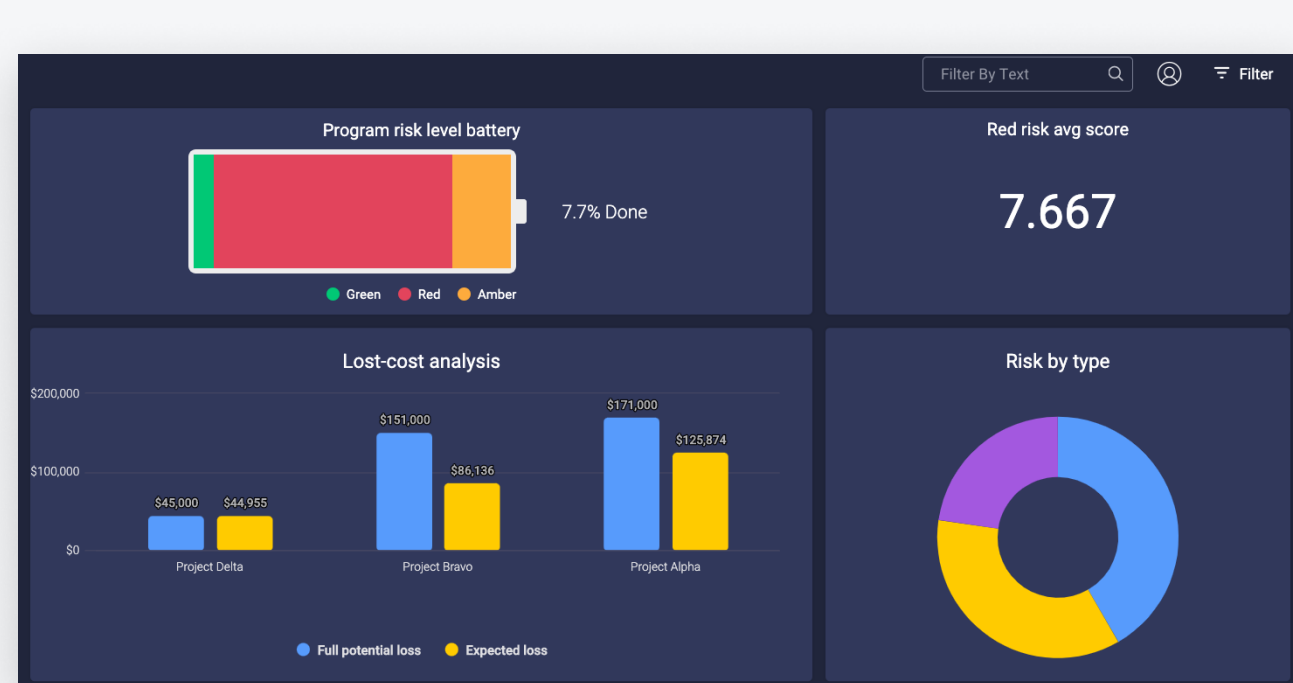

Communicate with ease in the context of work. Lose the endless email chains and share feedback, comments, reporting and next-steps in one place.

Teams and managers benefit from one source of truth through real-time data, at all times

Integrate with the tools you already use to get one source of truth for all your data.

Simplify decision making and risk management with Dashboards, so you can see all the data you want at a glance.

Share updates, files, and work once. Save time and double work by syncing on a shared platform

When an update is posted in this item, send it to channel

Add to board

Use Automations to speed up processes, drive efficiency, and save time.

Land and expand faster: Any work process can be templated to save time and establish unified work processes.

An all-in-one PMO platform that answers your needs.

One platform that does it all:

monday.com is a Work OS, designed for teams to plan, work, collaborate, track, communicate and report - in a single platform. Executives have full visibility to the data they need to make the best decisions for their business. It is easy to work, organize and share files, give feedback and assign next steps - across teams - over one shared Work OS.

Fully customizable for your business needs monday.com can support any work methodology and any type of project. With our integral API and Apps Framework & Marketplace, you can easily build any solution for your specific Business needs, on top of the platform. It allows you to support any methodologies or practices that your teams has already developed over time, and easily make it an integral part of your work processes within monday.com.

Automate work for efficiency and scalability:

monday.com allows you to focus on the work that matters and easily automate and template significant parts of your work processes so you can save time and drive efficiency. Leave the work and the repetitive, manual tasks behind and empower your team to spend more time on making real impact.

Users first: A platform teams LOVE to use and best-in-class customer service

The teams that use monday.com for their daily work have called it addictive. Why? It's easy to use, has simple and intuitive interface, rewards completed work, and it helps build a culture of transparency, ownership and accountability - no matter where you are. - no matter in which country. Our Customer Support team is dedicated to speed, tailored assistance in helping you build your dream workflow. We have PM-certified support to help with any technical or methodological need. An average of 10 minutes response time, 24/7 access to support, dedicated CSM, knowledge base documentation, and recorded webinars means you are never without answers.

Want to know more about monday.com for PMO?

Click here